The Driver

MATT DIBENEDETTO

BIRTHDAY JULY 27, 1991
 HOMETOWN GRASS VALLEY, CA
 ROOKIE YEAR 2015
 HEIGHT/WEIGHT 5'11" / 190 LBS

MATT DIBENEDETTO began his racing career at the age of seven, driving karts at a local dirt track on the weekends. A natural behind the wheel, he quickly moved up in the ranks, and by age eleven he had competed in over 100 racing events and won five championships.

DiBenedetto's skill as a young driver eventually earned him a spot on the Joe Gibbs Racing team, where he made his NASCAR Nationwide Series debut in 2009 at the Memphis Motorsports Park driving the No. 20 Pizza Ranch Toyota.

Throughout 2010, DiBenedetto ran six races for Joe Gibbs, with two top ten finishes. In 2011, he drove for Laerte Zatta in the K&N Pro Series East, and then joined The Motorsports Group midway through 2012 where he ran as a start-and-park driver.

In 2013, DiBenedetto joined Vision Racing to drive the No. 37 car part-time in the Nationwide Series.

During the 2014 season's Subway Firecracker 250 at Daytona, DiBenedetto replaced Jeffrey Earnhardt in the No. 4 JD Motorsports Chevy during the first caution. For the second race he joined the Motorsports Group, where he start-and-parked the No. 46 Chevrolet for 12 races and then raced the rest with the No. 46. He also finished 11th at the Road America and 13th at the Mid-Ohio races.

In 2016, DiBenedetto made his return in the Xfinity Series driving the No. 10 Camry for TriStar Motorsports at Fontana, where he finished 40th.
